Dear Graduates:

When you were a pre-kindergarten tot it thrilled you to have an older person read you a story from your very own book. You played with the children in the story and with their pets, and it was very real to you.

In school, through the books you read, you became acquainted with many people in other lands; you knew what they ate, how they dressed, what they did and how they lived.

Later, when you joined the public library you discovered that many books were written on every subject man was interested in. Books on travel, science, art, poetry, romance, fiction, drama, religion, on the history of every country, on transportation and occupations, fill the shelves from the floor to the ceiling of many libraries in many lands.

Great pleasure, information, inspiration and guidance are found in these books. They help to mold the lives of the people. When despots seek to destroy a people, they burn their books, and the people mourn deeply.

Perhaps you now own a library of your own. You chose the books with great care and often at a real sacrifice, but those books are precious, and have true worth for you. As you go out into the world your interests should widen and there will be many different kinds of books that you will buy as your taste develops.

The books you own and the books you read are your friends. Choose them wisely and treat them well. Of course, no library, however small, is complete without a few of the classics, a few books of special interests, and The Bible.

One caution—you cannot live in a world of books alone. The work you do, the people you meet, the friends you make, the pleasures you seek, the experiences you live through, plus the books you read will, all together, make your life a fuller and a richer one.

As the hour of parting draws near, let me point out to you that the many experiences of your student days here have provided real material from which you have composed a very memorable book—your very own class Mannequin. Its value will increase with the years, as its contents take on a fuller and deeper meaning.

Every time you open this book, you will hear me say to you, "Heartiest Congratulations upon your Graduation. And may God go with you always."

Sincerely,

May L. Drew

Principal

Preface

Four anxious years of waiting, for our thrilling moment of graduation, are over at long last.

As we look back we see that we have built up not only our bodies, but our minds as well, with the strength of knowledge.

We are like a library of vast learning: each one of us a book of well-learned facts; every page, filled with precious knowledge. We have been prepared to take our places in the future. With minds alert, we have set a goal: the attainment of success.

As characters in a book motivate the thinking and plot of a story, so have our parents, teachers and principal aided us in our never ending quest for knowledge. For this we are indeed grateful. At times it was hard for us to see what these people so wisely knew, but, eventually, their loving guidance and patience helped us to understand. Each chapter of our life in Sarah J. Hale contains valuable information preparing us for our daily living.

Graduation is only one of the many chapters in our book of life. This means the beginning of new interests. Sorrow and happiness will be inter-mingled many times before the final chapter is written. In years to come, we will look back over the happy times spent in these halls of learning, remembering it was here in Sarah J. Hale that we were taught to be helpful and useful citizens of this, our great country. And we will put into practice every day of our lives a creed deeply imbued within us: "Love thy Neighbor."

May we close this preface with the wish that this, our Mannequin of June 1952, will be one of the memorable and treasured chapters in a never-ending volume for us all.

June 1952

Dear Graduates,

Your graduation from high school brings to a close another chapter in your Book of Life.

In days to come, however, as you turn the pages of the Mannequin, your Senior Yearbook, memory will turn back the pages of your high school life. Then you will relive many of its episodes: the happy times, the sad times, the activities in which you participated. You will also recall the people in your high school story, your fellow-students and your teachers, as well as the subjects you studied and the services you gave to your school.

It is our dearest wish that, through all these pages and through those still to be written, there will run a strong, true theme tying up all the chapters in your Book of Life as you write a purposeful story of high aims, understanding of true values, service to your country, and a strong faith.

Sincerely,

Dorothy M Meyers

Administrative Assistant

Dear Diary,

A few days ago, we received a gift from Miss Polizzi: three bedraggled hags, using the alias, miniature head-models. Were they a mess! Stringy hair, no make-up! Awful! Miss Caruso, our petite, beauty culture teacher, inspired us to wave a magic wand and create glamorous mannequins. We drew lots for the privilege of rejuvenating these creatures. Carmen Colon created Renée; Marie Castellano's masterpiece was Pepe; Marie Amabile designed a new drape, as well as hair-style and make-up, and there she was—Denise! The girls relished the task of turning Macbeth's "Three Weird Sisters" into "The Dazzling, Chic Trio."

Dear Diary,

Gee, it feels good to be a senior. We'll be experiencing all we have only been able to observe, till now. The excitement of exams, the Prom, Senior Day, last minute preparations, rehearsals, and then . . . no more waiting! We will have in our hands our diploma, representing four years at Hale.

Dear Diary,

Today, the "freshies" found out we have many extra-curricular activities here at school. We have the Leaders', Choral, Newman, Trinity Clubs, Mannequin, and still others.

I hope to get into the Honor Society! The Senior Dance will be upon us soon. Senior Fine Day is March 3. Can't wait for the Prom!

Dear Diary,

Since Hale wasn't a co-ed school, I hadn't thought there would be many sports. Was I mistaken! Though we don't have a football team, we compensate with sports suitable for "young ladies." Soft ball and volley ball are played by the lower termers; basketball, the favorite game, is played by the upper termers! And we've also learned to "trip the light fantastic."

Dear Diary,

When our teacher gave us our last library lesson, my curiosity was aroused. I decided to satisfy it by reading on my own. So my own efforts, added to what we have been doing in school, have paved a road of adventure for me: fantastic, mythical, romantic experiences, painted with vivid words, lie before us.

Dear Diary,

The seeds I planted four years ago have born the fruits of education. Just as a tree needs water to grow, so did I require the advice and help of my teachers. With their aid, I expanded my branches of knowledge. As I approach maturity, I look back proudly at my accomplishments.

Dear Diary,

With that "Big Day" drawing ever nearer, our future looms large before us. A few of the girls would like to carve out professional careers for themselves; others intend to get married and do their part to increase our population. But whatever their ambition, I'm sure they will all have successful futures. What do I want? Why, a career first, and then a home!

Chairman: Savina Morisi; Anne Blish, Charlotte Davis, Rosemarie De Fina, Margie De Luca,

Journal

Dear Diary,

It's FAD! FAD! FAD! Something new came out in school today. It's a "killer!" Ballet shoes and dangling earrings! What will the girls think of next? Fur decorations in the hair was something that went out as fast as it came in. Well, Hale is an all-girl school. After all, what else can you expect from women?

Dear Diary,

Wasn't it t-h-r-i-l-l-i-n-g to talk about our favorite beau! We'll probably be surprised to see ourselves married to some one we least suspected would be "the one." Just for fun, I'll jot down Who Loves Whom and wait to see what the outcome will be. H.S. loves J.P.—T.E. loves A.S.—M.L.M. loves J.C.—R.A.S. loves . . . Hush!

Dear Diary,

In this graduating class, June '52, quite a few girls can display career paste-ups. Marilyn Jones of class 81A has appeared on T.V. and is going to continue her career in tap dancing after graduation. Patricia Tarallo is a member of a dancing group, the "Junior Rockets." Pat also intends to continue her career after commencement. Broadway, here they come!

Dear Diary,

It's daring, do, but never die! Graduation day is a-coming. We're determined to do our best to win some of those tantalizing awards. There are quite a few: the two for costume design, one for sketching and one for construction; the "Gloria" for hair styling; the gold medal for the regents; a husband for cooking. If only everyone might win at least one award. How about including a husband for all? We'll petition Miss Drew!

Dear Diary,

With graduation day so close, the poet within me must express my Pet Peeves. This poetic masterpiece is entitled

Ouch!

*I wish that I will never see
A smock or gym suit again on me;
Or have to sit on those hard chairs—
Then leave to climb the endless stairs!*

Dear Diary,

White dresses, moist eyes, happy, happy memories; Graduation will be a day of mingled emotions. There will be the rapture of actually acquiring our diploma, for which we have striven for four years; there will be the sorrow of parting with the dear friends we have known in this phase of our life.

Dear Diary,

My last contest as a senior—POSTURE QUEEN! I'm one of thirty-two candidates elected from each program number, under the direction of the Health Ed Department.

Will the Secret Judges (guess who) elect me Queen or Lady-In-Waiting? Do I rate FOUR P'S—Posture, Poise, Personality, Personal Appearance? PRIZES: Gold Oscar and Coronation Robe, Crown, Glamorizing Treatments, courtesy of our Trade Departments.

Sarah Hale Glossary

Author's PREFACE

When a book is written, this author, for one, feels that certain technical or specialized terms used in her book need explanation. That is the purpose of this glossary: a sort of dictionary for my newest edition of Mannequin. Naturally, this glossary, of necessity, has "distinctive" meanings.

P.S. Teachers, this is not for your eyes! So-o-, don't read what follows. Confidential, top-secret, purely-for-students'-eyes information is listed.

ACCURACY Copying your neighbor's answer next to the correct question number.

BLEACH A strong form of bottled, liquid sunlight.

BOBBY PIN A tool "used," unfortunately, to ruin the finish on desks; also, Bobby's new lapel jewelry.

COLLAPSIBLE Pertaining to a "fool-proof" alibi, after cross-examination by a teacher.

DETAILS Gabby girls will get all the "how's and why's."

DINE Eat surreptitiously before lunch period. Then buy the daily special.

FASTENERS Girls with lots of friends.

FRY To be put "on the pan" to face the S.S.G.O. Court for that last misdeed.

GATHERING Lunchroom socials.

HISTORY Book of "Dates." Is he something!

LITERATURE The comic books behind the text books.

MANICURE Prescription for Hale-ites who have fallen out with their beaux.

NEEDLES Hale tongues a-wagging.

NIPPER A sharp, slick retort in an argument.

ONIONS Test marks that leave us crying.

PINAFORE If a strap is loose, get a "pin-a-fore" it rips. (Be brave and bear those puns.)

PINKING Turning color when you learn the results of your tests.

RARE Getting back a pencil borrowed by a friend.

SUCCESS Getting to the front of the line in the lunchroom.

TRUANT OFFICER Talent Scout specializing in absentees.

VACUUM Our heads before, during, and after tests.

VEILS Loop holes the girls are always looking for. Oh, veil, where art thou?

YOKES Material written for Mr. Television, otherwise known as Milton Berle.

Dear Graduates,

This is your Book! It is a privilege to be a part of it, for, as your adviser, I am aware that it symbolizes the fulfillment of four arduous years of accomplishment.

How wonderful it is to be a senior. Your hopes, your ambitions, all have been realized and you are now a graduate. Our happy hours together will ever be fondly cherished in my memories.

Have courage to face the future, for your training in Sarah Hale has prepared you to meet new problems and experiences with confidence.

May happiness and success be yours.

LIBRARY STAFF

Mrs. Madeline Bengert

Teacher Librarian

Left to right—Miss Elizabeth Kent, Mrs. Madeline Bengert.

An important area of our school is the library where one finds students reading for pleasure, borrowing books, engaged in research, and having academic and trade library lessons, under the capable supervision of our librarians and teachers.

GUIDANCE OFFICE

Mrs. Rachel Trimble

Guidance Counselor

Mrs. Blanche Wachsman

Placement Counselor

Rear, left to right — Mrs. Rachel Trimble, Mrs. Blanche Wachsman, Miss Angela Mazzeo.

Some of the members of the Guidance Staff are engaged in helpful conferences with various members of the senior class.

GREEN AND GOLD

Miss Helen Fennelly
Faculty Adviser

The members of this staff turn out our school newspaper, the GREEN AND GOLD. These girls are taught the various phases of making up a newspaper. Incidentally, they preview new movies and interview celebrities of stage and screen.

S.S.G.O. COUNCIL

Mrs. Pearl Bennett
Faculty Adviser

The members of the S.S.G.O. Council are discussing with Mrs. Pearl Bennett, Faculty Adviser, in the S.S.G.O. Office, numerous problems concerning the cafeteria.

This Council, a committee of fifteen girls, includes the president, vice-president, and secretary of the Student Self-Government Organization, and the representatives. They supervise the lunch room and the traffic in the halls.

HONOR SOCIETY

Mrs. Madeline Bengert
Faculty Adviser

The most solemn moment of the Honor Society Installation is the lighting of the candles; this phase of the ceremony symbolizes the sacred pledge to maintain highest standards of scholarship, character, and service.

Membership in this society is the highest club honor that our school can bestow upon a girl.

Publishing

Fine Arts

Take a guided tour through our publishing house with us. See the galley proofs as they roll off the press. It's the best way for you to get a preview of the books we are going to release soon.

The Leaders' Club promotes games for fun, health, good sportsmanship, and leadership.

The Library Squad shows its training, so soundly learned through daily work, in filing books, stamping cards, and keeping the library in good order.

A varied and well-rounded program of intercultural and inter-scholastic activities is sponsored by the Newman Club, whose membership consists of Catholic students.

Academic Fields

The Social Studies regents class studies all the phases of American History and World Backgrounds. Current events with emphasis on the U.N. are specialties.

The English regents class appreciates Macbeth, Return Of The Native, poetry, essays, and engages in creative writing.

Art is an integral part of the costume design course. The girls design original creations and execute them in the costume design class.

Health Education emphasizes social dancing for grace and furthers health through gymnastics, sports, and just fun.

Useful Arts

The girls fit, sew, even drape, as well as perfect skills needed in making their own garments in Trade Dressmaking Ready-To-Wear. They also perfect skills needed in the ready-to-wear field. Their garments are sold in the SCHOOL STORE.

Trade Dressmaking Custom Order emphasizes making garments to fit individual customers.

Costume Design provides sample room methods for talented members to do advanced custom work. They, too, take regents. Suits, dresses, blouses! All are made by the girls.

However chic the costume, it needs the finishing touch of a smart hat. Thorough preparation in basic millinery processes and the fostering of creative ability result in the girls being placed with Florence Reichman's and Lilly Dache. Trade Millinery makes all of this possible.

Science

In the advanced Beauty Culture Class girls polish various skills in preparations for the State Board Examination which will grant successful candidates, licenses to practice cosmetology. Budding beauticians give manicures, hair cuts, head blocking, permanents, scalp treatments, and create hair styles.

Cosmetology is a related science which gives knowledge to the future beautician to make her trade problems more meaningful. They study the nervous system and circulation of the blood as part of understanding scalp treatments and facials. The State Board Examination includes a paper on cosmetology.

The tea room trains in all the culinary arts: roasts, salads, vegetables, and delicious desserts. Lunch is cooked for, and served daily, during three lunch periods, to the faculty.

In their study of small business, the students manage and operate the SCHOOL STORE. They learn interior display, typing, business machines, and techniques of salesmanship. They sell to all buyers stock garments made at Hale.

Choral Club
Orchestra

Mrs. Florence Donaghy

Glorious music, sung by unusually fine voices, is the outstanding contribution of the Choral Club. "If music be the food of love, sing on!"

However glorious the singing may be, it is further enhanced when accompanied by the orchestra. Flutes, violins, trumpets, drums, saxophones, a piano and a cello, under the direction of a talented conductor, perform at many functions including special assemblies and graduation.

Our tour is over. Next will come proof-reading, page-proofs, and finally—the published books. We promise each of you first editions, compliments of the publisher; they will be autographed personally by the authors in the handsome foyer of the Hale Publishing House.

Footnotes

Before leaving on our strange, unknown journey to the Land of the Adult Future, We, the Graduates of the Class of June 1952, do hereby proclaim, announce and declare this document to be our Last Will and Testament.

We bequeath to our heirs, the following properties:

To Miss Sasuly: A written itinerary of all the places we have visited with her, in her imaginative descriptions, during our English classes.

To Miss Crowley: "Ninety-nine" more happy years of teaching the girls how to get 100% in history.

To Miss Fennelly: A book of original, new jokes for the school paper.

To Miss Schmidt and Mrs. Klein: A miraculous robot to chase the girls out of the locker room on time.

To Mrs. Donaghy: An orchestra which will excel in playing the "Three B's"—Brahms, Beethoven, and Bach.

To Future Freshmen: A map plotting the way to our secret Inner Sanctum, otherwise known as C22.

To Needle Trade Teachers: A group of girls who have that rare, so-seldom-found skill: knowing how to sew, with a thimble!

To Beauty Culture Teachers: A new, shiny pair of scissors. Poodle Cuts, here the beauticians come!

To Eighth Termers: 1. The privilege of using the Teachers' Tea Room for lunch! Ah, dreams! 2. Our past experiences, including the thrill of being graduated.

To All Our Previous Teachers: A new supply of patience and energy replacing what we have taken from you.

To All Future Students: We entrust to you our beloved Sarah J. Hale.

To Miss Drew: Our appreciation for being our light house of help and confidence in the storms which sometimes beset us in our years at Hale.

Being of sound mind, clear conscience (and with pockets flat broke after paying all senior expenses), we do hereby affix our signatures, and do close this will and testament, signed, sealed and executed in the Year of Our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-two.

Congratulations to you graduates of the Class of June 1952. You have worked hard for your diplomas. Your principal and staff of teachers have provided excellent training for you. How you use that training is up to you.

Graduation means another step towards your own independence. More responsibility will come to you. The habits which you developed as a result of your training, including school banking, will determine the measure of your success.

We, your school bank, extend our wishes for your prosperity and good fortune. We hope that we may continue to serve you and help you to realize your ambitions.

Dedicated to the Memory of

VIVIAN RUSSO

To our classmate who has left us, but whose memory will live forever in our hearts.

Affectionately,

HER CLOSEST FRIENDS

Finis

The evening is dark; coolness and silence are all about me. The present is not lonely, because many dreams of yesterday are with me. The stars are out, and the full moon casts its brilliant reflections on the form that is I. That bright light of the celestial heavens is a part of me, also—that brightness is in me . . . in my thoughts . . . my actions . . . and my tomorrow's. As I approach the last few paragraphs of my fourth and last chapter at Sarah J. Hale, I look back upon the previous pages, and memories fill my mind. . . .

Though Chapter One is a long way behind, I can still remember our freshman year: the blank look on our faces, our first program card, those comments—"Hey! Can you tell me where C22 is?" "Who wants exploratory? I know which trade I want!" It all sounds terrible, but we survived, learned a lot, and had fun, too. Time passed quickly.

Chapter Two was a continuation of Chapter One, and yet it was different in many respects. We were no longer "Little Lost Lambs." We had found ourselves in our trades; we had become a part of Sarah Hale, and Sarah Hale had become a part of us.

We found ourselves being whisked into Chapter Three. Ah, Juniors! Already two years had elapsed. We found ourselves joining and being elected to clubs: S.S.G.O., Honor Society, Green and Gold, the Forum, the Newman Club, and the Library Squad. Girls in Dressmaking took their examination for admission to Costume Design.

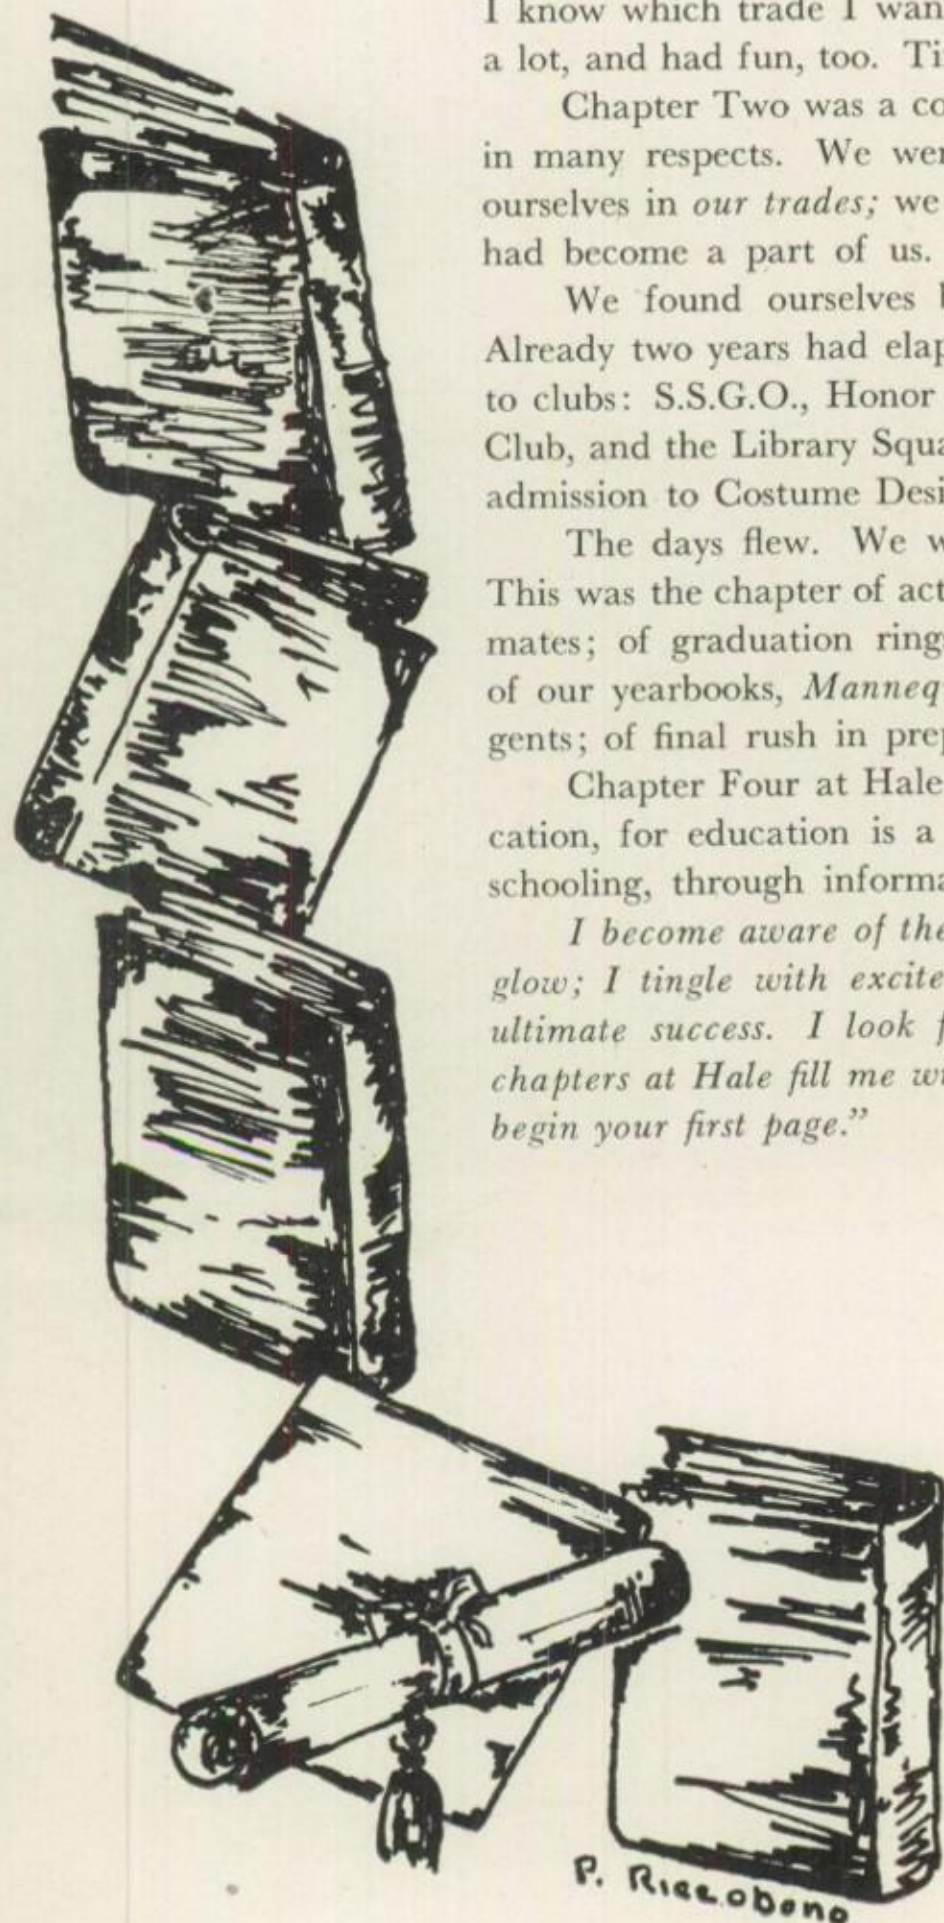

The days flew. We were Seniors, at last, for Chapter Four was begun. This was the chapter of acting like young ladies and big sisters to fellow schoolmates; of graduation rings and pictures; of senior dances and senior days; of our yearbooks, Mannequin; of graduation dresses; of prom gowns and regents; of final rush in preparation for graduation.

Chapter Four at Hale is concluded. But it is not the last chapter of education, for education is a continuous process. It will go on through formal schooling, through informal experiences gained in business and in the home.

I become aware of the present, of the peace about me; but, I feel a warm glow; I tingle with excitement. For, I face the future eagerly, confident of ultimate success. I look forward to the education of the future. My four chapters at Hale fill me with a fervid wish to cry out, "Come, sequel! I must begin your first page."
